Greg Smith

Greg Smith - Disability Speaker

“ I never thought of myself as a person with a disability despite being born with muscular dystrophy. Then something happened that changed my life...

Greg Smith - The Strength Coach

“ In the early nineties, I didn't get a promotion I wanted while working at a radio station. Disability devaluation was the culprit. I had to do something. I quit the job. I combined my skills in radio with my experiences as a person with a disability and started "On A Roll: Talk Radio on Life & Disability" on a single station in Phoenix. Thus began a 14-year study of disability culture. 70+ stations later, I have interviewed and learned from the greatest leaders and thought provokers in the disability community and now, as a professional speaker, I have so much to share with your conference attendees!

Passing along knowledge is important, but bringing in a boring speaker will kill your conference. You want an experienced speaker who is entertaining, enchanting and enlightening for your audience. Don't book a boring fact teller. Book someone who can bring you Content AND Character. You want Expertise AND Eloquence. Let's talk about how I can help you be the hero who found the keynote speaker!

Expertise and Eloquence bring standing ovations!

I received this enthusiastic standing ovation after presenting at the Division on Career Development and Transition Conference, November 15, 2013.

If you want great conference evaluation marks for your keynote speaker, an energized and enthusiastic group of attendees, and the reputation of putting on a great conference, give me a call!
